

French & Indian War, Proclamation of 1763

They were fighting over land. The French & Indians wanted it for beaver. The British wanted it for farming.

The British won, but it cost them a lot of money to win the war. Soldiers & supplies cost money. They borrowed money to pay for the war.

The King of England made a law that colonists can't go west of the Appalachian mountains. He wanted to keep the colonists safe from the Native Americans and didn't have money to pay for more soldiers to protect them. The colonists were not happy.
